ENGINEERING MATERIALS AND METALLURGY

Two mark questions and answers

1. What is Materials Science?

Materials Science is an interdisciplinary subject which is concerned with the study of materials as a whole like behavior of the material, production of the material, applications and study of all properties of the material along with its macro and micro-structures.

2. How do you select a material for the transformer windings?

Oxygen free high conductivity copper is the best material for transformer windings since it has low grain boat losses, high corrosion resistance, high conductivity, high ductility to draw into thin wires and high strength.

3. Mention the required properties of bearing materials.

1. It should have high conductivity.
2. It should have high strength and high impact strength.
3. It should have high fatigue resistance.
4. It should withstand the load without any deformation of friction.

4. What are the required properties of the materials for making thermocouples?

1) The thermocouple material should have larger thermoelectric effect (i.e., produce more voltage or more cooling effect per unit rise of temperature.)
2) It should have high melting point.

Example: Lead telluride semiconductor (where lead is then type and tellurium is The p type semiconductor with 61.9% ple- 38.1%. Te). It has many thermoelectric generators to produce more electric power and thermoelectric refrigerators to produce more cooling effects.

5. What are metallic glasses?

Metallic glasses have the properties of metals and glasses such that they have ductility, malleability and brittleness. Ferromagnetic metallic glasses are in the form of ribbons and are used as light weight magnetic cores having no losses and high energy products.

6. What are advantages of FRP?

i. high strength to weight ratio
ii. high heat resistance
iii. low cost tooling
iv. high electrical conductivity

7. What are SAW materials?

SAW materials are the materials producing surface acoustic waves. The are used in delay lines, filters and oscillators.
Examples : $LiNbO_3$, $LiTaO_3$.

8. Mention few biomaterials and their applications.

a. stainless steels (ASTMF – 138) have high tensile strength and high
